

Another Letter From Bro. Helm.

(To the Editor of the Interior Journal.)

The camp ground at Old Orchard is owned by the M. E. Church. They have a large church with a seating capacity of 1,200 into which we were driven once or twice by rain. The main auditorium was on the slope of a hill like the old amphitheatres where 6,000 seats were full at a few services. It was a wonderful sight to see old men and women, young men and maidens, sitting beneath the electric light under lofty maple and pine shades, wrapt in the worship of God for three hours at a time when, perhaps, shawls and overcoats had to be worn to shield from cool night sea breezes. Yet I heard of no one made sick by such exposure. Truly God is good to Israel.

The personnel of this convention was of a very high order intellectually and spiritually. Dr. Cullis had done much in this section before the Alliance entered this field. And now that Dr. C. has "fallen to sleep" may the Alliance continue in a higher degree the noble work he began at O. O.

There were not many rich, not many of earth's great men or D. S. there. A few were found, but they seemed rather ashamed of their earthly titles of distinction among sisters and brethren perhaps more deeply taught of God. The spirit of love so prevailed that no self seeking, no jarring, no arguing was seen, though Congregationalists, Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians, Friends, Episcopalians, &c., all were there, both as workers and listeners. The object of the convention was not a summer religious recreation. It was for the salvation of souls, for deepening spiritual life, for securing "the peace of God which passeth all understanding"—in a word, for securing to believers the fullness of Christ, in a soul experience by the baptism of the H. S. It means sanctification in the Bible sense, i. e., the life of Christ so shed abroad through the life of the believer by the indwelling spirit that he can truly realize Paul's meaning, "It is God that worketh in you both to will and to do of His good pleasure. Do all things without murmurings and disputings, that ye may be blameless and harmless, the Sons of God without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world." All this is seen there to be possible in the lives of men and women who in deep humility, as broken and empty vessels, can say, with Paul, "For I through the law am dead to the law, that I might live unto God. I am crucified with Christ, nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me, and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, &c." This holy living is a possibility, in fact God chose us in Christ that we "should be holy and without blame before him in love." And the failure of the Christian host to accomplish more is because the world has seen so little of Christ's life in us. The convention teaches, not a sanctification of the old nature, but a vital, Holy Ghost union of Christ and the believer by an act of faith first, and then a habit of faith, so that it is Christ who loves through us, who rejoices in us, who keeps us meek and sweet under trials and pure in temptations. Oh, it was like the breaking of heavenly day to see hungry, burdened souls come and seeing all the infinite fullness of Christ so freely given, enter into His love and joy and peace and fullness, and, like the Eunuch, go on their way rejoicing in "the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free." It is no privilege of any of God's pets, but open and offered to all. Many never saw it, many know it is theirs; so in God's gift of "all things in Christ," but do not know how to enter into and enjoy their possession. Those whom the H. S. has taught are there to teach, and many tender spirits meet and kneel and counsel and pray with these dear brethren till they see it and claim it through faith. I am promulgating no theory or doctrine, only telling of the fullness I, as well as many others, have so found to be for me in the H. S. And it is based on a reciprocal relation. We lay self on the altar with all we are and have, ALL, and Christ accepts it. Self is crucified and God now unites us with Christ, so that we being dead, he lives in and through us. We, having given up all righteousness, he becomes our righteousness; we having no wills, his will is now made known to us by the spirit, &c. The result is consecrated, holy, joyous Christians. But I must close, though like one of old "I am full of matter."

Tate's Creek Association.

PREACHERSVILLE, Aug. 31.—One of the most interesting sessions of the Tate's Creek Association, which is nearly 100 years old, is being held with the church at this place this week. The attendance is unusually large, a goodly number of the churches composing the association being ably represented. The people of this vicinity have thrown their doors wide open and the hospitality of this people is refreshing to behold. They seem to be trying in a business-like way to see who can entertain the greatest number each night at their respective homes. Mr. W. H. Anderson and his excellent wife have been trying to get 50 visitors each night, but everybody else is so eager to entertain that they have not reached that number. The dinners spread each day just simply beat the world. Ask a single individual in attendance if a more bountiful supply was ever seen and the answer is in the negative.

The business of the association is moving along in a systematic way and truly are brethren dwelling together in unity, or to use the language of a good old brother who sometimes "orates" in the church meetings at the Stanford Baptist house of worship, they are "pulling together while floating down the stream of time."

Mr. A. T. Chenault, of Madison, was again made moderator and with tears in his eyes thanked the association for the honor bestowed. He fills the position just about right. No association ever had a better or more accommodating clerk than Rev. T. P. Dudley, Jr.

The association is being mainly held in the shady woodland of Mr. W. H. Cummins, a Preachersville merchant, in sight of the church, on account of the large crowd, but the main portion of the business is transacted at the latter place by the delegates, while the majority are listening to good preaching by eminent divines at the former place.

Among the visitors and delegates from Stanford I notice Rev. and Mrs. A. V. Sizemore, Mrs. Sue Baughman, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Elkin, Mrs. Betsy Nevius, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. H. McAllister, Messrs. G. G. Wine, J. C. McClary, R. B. Woods, T. D. Newland and family, E. P. Woods, Mrs. Joe F. Waters, Mrs. Mattie Nevius, Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Wearner, Mrs. Annie James, Mrs. Jane Barrow, Miss Jennie Broadbent, Misses Menefee, Mrs. Linda Hayden, Mr. J. P. Bush, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Caldwell, Rev. R. B. Mahony, Mrs. A. R. Penny, Mrs. J. H. McAllister, Miss Susie Lasley, Mr. J. R. and Mrs. W. F. McClary, Dr. Fowler and wife.

Something unusual and never before witnessed by any one in the large crowd present, happened Tuesday. A storm came up and the people from the association in the woods sought shelter in the church and adjacent residences, while some were in buggies. Just across the street from the church is the residence of Mr. Will Payne. While the rain was pouring down a flash of lightning struck a tree in Mr. Payne's front yard and ripped it to the ground. The crash of thunder was terrific. Within a dozen steps of this tree were probably 50 people and the horse of Mr. J. H. McAllister was hitched right under it. Mr. T. D. Newland, Mrs. Sue Baughman and several others who were in close proximity to the tree of fate, were considerably stunned, but the strangest of strange things is, nobody was killed. The horse mentioned looked like he preferred being hitched elsewhere, but was not hurt. There are hundreds of witnesses to this occurrence.

It has always been said, you know, that the Methodist is the denomination that devote their spare time to devouring chickens. This may be so, but if it is absolutely true that it is confined exclusively to them, then the chickens have the thing mixed, for I notice they are dodging around in the yards here this week like the hawks are after them. They are certainly trying to keep out of the way of the Baptists, but their efforts are proving futile.

A detailed account of the business of the association might be given in this column, but those interested can read this in the minutes.

Those who know Uncle Bob Woods' trading qualities will see this point: He got in church a little late Tuesday afternoon and the building was crowded. He found a seat by a Stanford lady, however, and wishing to apologize for his tardiness he said in tones louder than he thought: "I have been out there trying to buy a mighty fine mare mule." Uncle Bob always has an eye to business, but this created an audible smile.

Rev. T. P. Dudley, Jr., clerk, starts for far-off India on next Wednesday week, whither he goes to carry the gospel to the heathen. His heart is in this work, and possessing talent to an unusual degree, it can be safely predicted that great results will follow. His numberless friends hate to give him up and hope that for his sacrifice he will receive showers of blessings.

I heard an old gray-haired gentleman remark that Mrs. B. K. Wearner and Mrs. Judge T. L. Shelton were two of the handsomest married ladies in attendance.

The only instance of the office seeking the man that has been witnessed in this section since Noah sailed on that boundless body of water some time ago was in the election of Mr. A. T. Chenault as moderator. It is moved, if I can get a second, that he be the moderator for all future sessions of Tate's Creek Association.

I am inclined to opinion that not an individual who is in attendance at this session believes otherwise than that the Baptists are making it a point to multiply and replenish the earth. The young crop this season seems to be above the average and the little ones are all musicians in their way, though they pay but little attention to the minor chords.

Digressing considerably, I would state that while enjoying the shade of one of the big trees here, an old gentleman called my attention to the fact that it was 19 years last Monday night since the cholera epidemic made its first appearance in Stanford and that for some time following that city looked as deserted and as lonesome as a great many family burying grounds.

A lady and gentleman were comfortably seated in a buggy within 15 feet of where the lightning struck Tuesday afternoon. She informed me to-day that her watch stopped simultaneously with the stroke and has since refused to move. This Baptist lady is at a loss to know whether her time-piece was stopped short by the lightning or the gentleman's interrogative.

Misses Virginia, Dorcas Pattie and Mr. Jones Anderson will be remembered with special pleasure by many Stanford people, and especially by the writer, for scattering seeds of kindness.

There were probably 800 or 1,000 people on the grounds Wednesday, many from Lancaster, Crab Orchard and towns contiguous.

Too much praise can not be accorded the ladies of this community. It certainly required hard work and a heap of it to prepare to entertain this big crowd in such royal style. It had not been decided when I left where this association would convene in 1893, but wherever it meets, the people will have to rise early and retire late if they beat the people of this community in taking good care of a big crowd.

—A Richmond dispatch to the Louisville Commercial says that Col. James Brooks, formerly of this place, but for a number of years a resident of Richmond, is under arrest at that place on some old misdemeanor cases. It says further that Brooks was only recently released by the Kansas City authorities on the charge of attempting to defraud Thomas Huls of Richmond, of some money. A telegram from Kansas City signed W. H. Johnson announced to Mr. Huls that his son, then in Kansas City had been killed, and that the remains would be shipped home upon the receipt of a certain amount to defray expenses. Huls suspected it was a scheme to rob him and refused to send the cash until he could investigate. He telegraphed his son, who answered that he was well and safe. The police went to work and finally arrested Brooks. His trial came off a few days ago and there being no evidence to prove that he sent the message, he was released.

Why Everybody is Happy.

STANFORD, Aug. 31, 1892.—To-day will be known as the day we celebrate in Stanford. The tips of every branch upon the trees seems adorned with flowers. The birds are singing more sweetly than usual; the grass looks fresher and every one's face is wreathed in smiles; even our old friend Tribble walks faster than common, and the water as it gushes from the faucet appears as limpid and sparkling as the spirit of old Logan could wish; the electric light beams softly down upon us and all nature seems to be happy and glad. The brick mason is at work earlier than common and the "burnt district," arising so rapidly from ruin is looked at as a Phoenix. Everybody and everything you see is cheerful and gay. What can all this mean?

—Joseph Briggs Paxton, Esq., and Miss Mary Robinson are to be married at the Galt House in Louisville, this evening, and Miss Robinson's mother is first bride's maid.

Young folks, here is my hand with my heart in it, and may you always be as faithful in the future as you have been in the long, long years that your hearts have been beating for each other. "HAPPY JACK."

AFTER all the devilish machinations of the conspirators, headed by the arch conspirator, Speaker Moore, who used his position for all that it was worth and more too, to carry his point against the executive, the House by a vote of 51 to 33 sustained the governor's veto of the revenue and taxation bill and gave the people cause to rejoice. To prevent it, however, every tactics known to parliamentary and unparliamentary law was resorted to, even to the ruling of an appeal out of order by the speaker, who was soundly rebuked by a vote of 50 to 25 for this most remarkable decision. It is gratifying to know that the friends of the governor, which, this time, at least, means the friends of the people, are in the majority, and it is not expecting too much now that they will go to work and enact a revenue bill that will be equal in its exactions and constitutional in its passage. It will be gratifying to his constituents to know that as usual Hon. D. B. Edmiston voted right, that is to say, for sustaining the veto, and so did Hon. Lewis Y. Leavell, of Garrard. Gentlemen, we salute you!

The Asiatic cholera has reached our shores and there is consternation at New York, where the steamship Moravia arrived Wednesday. On her voyage from Hamburg there were 23 deaths from what the ship's surgeon said was "cholera," but there is no doubt that it was genuine cholera. Every precaution has been taken to prevent its introduction into the metropolis. The disease is reported beyond control at Hamburg, with 400 to 500 deaths a day. The president is hurrying home from his outing to hold a cabinet meeting to consider the best steps to be taken in the premises.

The auditor may be a bigger man physically than Gov. Brown, but the latter can knock him out in the first round and not half try. All the trouble at Frankfort arises from the people not taking the good advice we gave them so liberally last year, viz., namely, to elect: Reject the new constitution and elect Dick Warren auditor. Brer. Norman is the best kind of a fellow, but he will try to bite off more'n he can chew.

The republicans of the 28th judicial district, composed of the counties of Pulaski, Rockcastle, Clinton, Wayne and Whitley met at Somerset Tuesday and nominated by acclamation Judge T. Z. Morrow, of Somerset, for judge, and C. W. Lester, for commonwealth's attorney.

—Mr. James R. Marrs has again taken charge of the Lancaster Record. Mr. W. B. Nichols has taken employment with him and will not start a job printing office here, as he at first contemplated.

—The Teachers' Institute has been in session since Monday. Supt. J. W. Rawlings presides over the body and Prof. R. H. Caruthers, of Louisville, conducts the interesting proceedings. There is a full attendance of teachers.

—It may not be Danville news, exactly, but haven't the esteemed contemporaries generally noticed the intensely English style in which the Lizzie Borden murder case at Fall River, Mass., is reported daily, for the Associated Press?

—Lige Brooks, Mat Hoskins, Sank Amody and Tit Carroll, juvenile Africans, were before the police court Wednesday for throwing filth through an open window into the house of George

Goode. Tit and Lige proved an "hali-bi" and Mat and Sank on account of their youth were let off with two days each in the work-house.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—Dove shooting is said to be unusually good in this locality.

—The Ladies' Mite Society has placed a handsome new carpet in the Presbyterian church.

—Alex Bishop, of Lancaster, and Jas. M. Whittaker, of Buckeye, have been granted pensions.

—Mrs. W. O. Sweeney has moved her stock of millinery into the new Harbin property on Richmond street.

—John Campbell, who was shot thro' the right lung during the Best fight at Paint Lick Saturday is rapidly improving and his physician says that he will recover. The boy Hammond, who was wounded accidentally, will be out in a few days. Humphrey Best was buried at Paint Lick church Sunday morning.

—Mr. H. A. B. Marksberry, who has been quite ill for several days, is improving. Mrs. S. P. Cronley, of Lexington, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ann Hopper.

—Miss Ada Farra is spending the week in Danville. Mrs. Joe Rogers (nee Miss Juliette Gill) left Thursday for Bloomington, Ind., her future home. Miss Patie Beazley is visiting friends in Lexington.

—Misses Lou and Lillie Grant left Wednesday for a two-week's visit in Danville. Mr. Homer Batson has returned from Cincinnati. He will give instruction on the violin in the college this year. Miss Bessie McLean, of Nashville, who visited Miss Maggie Jenkins, returned home Wednesday. She was accompanied by her cousin, Mr. Louis Doty.

The Colored Teachers' Institute.

Composed of the teachers of Lincoln, Boyle and Garrard, which is in session this week under the tutelage of Prof. C. C. Monroe, of the colored State Normal, seems to be a very successful one. Those teachers who did not answer at roll call Monday but have since put in their appearance are as follows: Mrs. Allie M. Haynes, Miss Mary V. Richey, Miss Mary Young, Mrs. Susie D. Henry, Miss Lizzie Green, Mrs. Sophia Craig, Miss Flora Dickinson, Mrs. Emma Shepherd, S. E. Lackey, L. A. Reynolds, Miss Emma Campbell. Those questions that have been discussed up to today have elicited much favorable comment from those who have attended. Prof. Monroe seems to be a complete master of his profession, thoroughly conversant with the intricacies of the common school curriculum. The teachers almost without exception are very earnest in their efforts to excel. It is very gratifying to the county superintendent to see such earnestness manifested among the race. A marked feature not found in all institutes is that not a single teacher who has been called upon to give his or her idea of a certain branch of study has yet refused.

Quite an animated discussion was had on Tuesday between the conductor on the one side and Prof. R. L. Fletcher and others opposing, on the subject of composition; the first being opposed to children being allowed to write at home, the opposing faction favoring home writing on composition as well as at school.

The query box and report of the critic are marked features of the exercises. The music, both vocal and instrumental, seems to attract the attention of all within hearing of the same. The colored patrons and trustees as a rule have not been educated up to that all important point of attending the county institutes. There have been several educators present this week, both white and colored, thereby adding greater interest to the occasion. The subject of elocution was being discussed last evening when we went to press.

The session will close today in time to allow those who came on the trains to depart the same way. There is one thing very gratifying this year, more so than has been heretofore, and that is that teachers no longer consider an institute a bore, but instead of that they all consider it as a week of normal training.

Judge M. C. Sausley, by special invitation, delivered an address of 30 minutes yesterday afternoon, on civil government, which was listened to by a large crowd besides the Institute and greatly enjoyed for the clear and comprehensive manner in which he treated the subject.

At the conclusion of Judge Sausley's address, which was liberally applauded, Col. T. P. Hill made a characteristic speech, which greatly delighted his hearers.

We are in receipt of the following invitation: You are earnestly requested to be present at a re-union of the Sixth Kentucky Cavalry, C. S. A., Col. Grigsby's Regiment, to be held at the Fair Grounds in Somerset, Ky., on the 14th of September, 1892.

Remember that it is a solemn fact that our whitening hair and staid gait attest that increase of years is fast making us old men, and our regiment has never had a re-union, so come, be with us and see your old comrades in arms, recount with them the reminiscences of more than 27 years ago, and we will assure you an enjoyable time.

Will C. Curd, W. C. Miles, E. T. Elliott, J. B. Rucker and others, Committee on Invitation.

OFFICIAL ROUTE.—The C. & O. has been made the official route for the States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky and Missouri for the occasion of the G. A. R. National Encampment at Washington in September.

—The Senate passed the corporation bill over the governor's veto, but the House will probably give it the same dose it did the revenue and taxation bill.

—The legislators accepted the invitation to attend the Lexington fair to-day. This is no doubt a big thing for the fair and the solons, but it is a pretty costly piece of business to the State.

Mr. Lazarus heard no suspicious noise at all and was surprised when he awakened next morning and found his window open and his money missing. He has no clue to the guilty party, but has put the case in the hands of that hawk-eyed detective, Marshal Newland.

This is the last week of vacation to many young folks and on the first of the coming one thoughts of pleasure will be turned to that of books. Love, parties, socials and the like will necessarily be set aside by the student who knows the value of an education and work and study will be substituted. It will no doubt, be hard at first to give up frivolity, but it should be remembered that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty" and that liberty is attained far easier by the wise than the ignorant. Bear this in mind, young man and young lady, and eat not the bread of idleness when the opportunity is laid before you by which you may become great.

STANFORD'S WATER WORKS ate at last a successful reality. Water was turned on Wednesday and since then our people have been quenching their thirst (we mean those who indulge in that kind of potations) with as pure a fluid as ever gushed from mother earth. Mr. B. J. C. Howe, the contractor, who has superintended the work, tells us that he is only using a pressure of 25 pounds to the inch now, but that his engines—there are two of them of monster power—are capable of increasing the pressure to 200 pounds. It took a great deal of water to fill the several miles of pipe, but the supply in the basin was not at all lessened, apparently, as it has remained full all the time. Now let the croakers and obstructionists go into their holes. What they said was an impossibility is now a glorious accomplishment and here's hoping that a grand and glorious era of prosperity has now dawned for Stanford.

Mrs. E. R. DAVIS, who was Miss Alice Stuart, has presented her husband with a girl.

REMEMBER the sale of Locust Grove Stock Farm on Wednesday, Sept. 21st. J. D., E. H. and J. C. Jones.

THE first day of fall was a little too emblematic of the season. The air was chill and crisp and overcoats and fires were in order, and ordered in many instances.

THE stockholders in the late fair would like to know when they are to hear whether they will get any of their money back or not. It is going on three months since the fair and it's time they were knowing, you know.

THE residents on Logan Avenue are making great complaint of their loss of chickens by dogs. Two or three hundred have been devoured by the worthless canines and the work still continues. A few buttons are badly needed in that portion of town.

G. A. R. NATIONAL ENCAMPMENT.—The comrades are falling in line and propose making as fine an appearance this year as when they marched down Pennsylvania avenue on the last review. Round trip tickets will be sold over the C. & O., September 13th to 20th inclusive, good returning until Oct. 10th, at $14.50.

As administrator of Ed McRoberts I will sell at public auction in front of the Court-House on next county court day the following of his effects: Two shares of stock in the L. & N. railroad, buggy and harness, saddle, full set of carpenter's tools, including a mortising machine, furniture, consisting of beds, chairs, clock, stove, gold watch as good as new, lot of fencing lumber, and various other things. J. E. Bruce, Admr.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—The marriage of Mr. Joseph Briggs Paxton to Miss Mary Robinson will surprise their host of friends, who seemed to have been completely hoodwinked in the matter. For the novelty of the thing, the wedding was celebrated in Louisville, Miss Robinson and her mother going down in the morning and Mr. Paxton following in the afternoon. They met according to arrangement at the Galt House, and at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening the twain were made one flesh, after God's holy ordinance. Afterwards they left for a tour of the West and on their return will occupy rooms at the Coffey House. The groom is our popular and capable county attorney and is in every respect a model and exemplary young man, while his bride, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Robinson, of this county, comes as near to perfection in every charming grace and virtue as any woman we know. In addition to this she is exceedingly handsome both of face and figure and is lovely and lovable to an unusual degree. The union will prove a most congenial one and congratulations are profuse all around.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL has always held the interesting pair in high esteem and wishes now to renew its assurances of its great regard for and its interest in their future welfare. May Heaven's richest blessings attend them.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

—Mrs. S. A. Strother, mother of Mrs. W. E. Arnold, who was called to her bedside at Irvine, died two days after her arrival. She was 54 years of age and her disease typhoid fever. Her husband was for years a member of the Kentucky Conference and she raised up one son a preacher. She was noted for her goodness of heart and sublime Christian character.

—By an oversight we failed to mention the sad death of Capt. Larry Keefe, who died at his home in Covington of typhoid pneumonia. The clever captain will be remembered by many a passenger who has ridden on the K. C. and the announcement of his death will cause a general regret. Capt. Keefe made his headquarters here while running on this division of the K. C. and was one of the best, as well as a charter member, of the order of Knights of Pythias here. He leaves a wife and nine children.

—The sad news of Mrs. W. M. O'Bryan's death reached here Tuesday and those who had had the pleasure of her acquaintance are deeply grieved. She died at Owensboro, where her husband is the L. & N. agent, on Monday last, after an illness of several months caused by childbirth. Mrs. O'Bryan was Miss Annie Dillion, daughter of Mr. F. W. Dillion, of Crab Orchard, and was a woman of much beauty and refinement. She leaves besides her husband an interesting daughter of five years and the little infant that will, in all probability, follow its mother to the grave. Mrs. O'Bryan's husband is a devout Catholic and she professed that religion while on her death bed. The remains were taken to Chicago, this State, Wednesday, and laid to rest in her husband's family burying ground and her deeply grieved husband has by this time returned to his former happy home to live in awful solitude till time can to some extent assuage the feelings of his irreparable loss.

—It will no doubt be joyful news to many of our readers to know that the track of the railroad between Jerusalem and Joppa is completed and the first train has just made the trip. Get up your geography and trace the route.

—Samuel B. Crail, a prominent young Louisville man, is dead.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Transylvania Presbytery meets at Bethel church, Taylor county, Sept. 6th, at 7:30 p. m.

—Three hundred horse trades were made in one day at a Baptist association near Enterprise, this State.

—Synod of Kentucky meets on the 12th at Lexington to change the place of regular meeting from Danville to Louisville.

—The meeting conducted by Elder Sylvester Martin, of the Christian church, at Paris, has closed with 142 additions.

—Eld. Martin Owens writes that he and Bros. John Long and John Lay have just closed a meeting at Walnut Grove, in Rockcastle county, with nine additions, all of whom were baptized.

—The Lord is doing a good work at Rowland. Preaching every night by Rev. Ben Helm. A number have been reclaimed; some, it is hoped, brought to accept their Savior and others seeking the pearl of great price. Come and join the good work.

—Rev. W. E. Arnold expects to fill his pulpit at the Methodist church Sunday. This will be the last service of the present Conference year and a full attendance is requested. Mr. Arnold leaves Monday for Middlesboro to attend the session of the Kentucky Conference.

54-1d I. C. CALDWELL, Ag't, Aug. 24, '92.

The Song of Stanford.

In the bosom of Kentucky,
Far from the deep, blue sea
There stands a little city—
It's the home of you and me.

It is not a great metropolis,
It's not a mushroom town,
It supplies the wants of people
For many miles around.

It's approached by numerous turnpikes,
From towns that are near and far,
Which were used by both the armies
In the last great civil war.

It has hills and dales around it,
Near are fields of ripening grain,
That were raised by honest hands,
Helped by sunshine, wind and rain.
